

WRITING TASK FOR 3RD TERM

The writing task for this third term is an ARGUMENTATIVE ESSAY. In order to have a clear idea about what this type of writing is about, I have attached a file in which I briefly explain what it consists of, what its layout may be and what information should be displayed in each one of the different paragraphs this essay should be made of. In the same way, in that file I also show you different ways in which the topic can be introduced at the same time that we may draw the readers' attention, so you can choose one of them to be used in your own piece of writing, bearing in mind that you cannot express your own point of view in this part of the essay.

Another thing that you all must bear in mind is there should be a balance in the ideas you may put forward either for or against in the different paragraphs that make up the body of the writing. Therefore, through those ideas you can reach a conclusion in the final paragraph in which you can express your opinion about the issue or topic.

Finally, I just want to pinpoint that the main difference between this type of writing and an opinion essay, that you may study more thoroughly next year, is that you can state your own point of view from the very beginning, that is, in the introduction section, though you cannot forget that you should also state for and against idea about the topic discussed but this time, those ideas referring to your own point of view would be more important.

Your piece of writing must be sent or addressed to my email address:

Miguelangel.garcia5@murciaeduca.es

Your essays need to be sent before next Thursday 26 March, 2020.

Your essays should clearly show your name.

There is another filled attached with the topic sentence and the marking criteria.

Take care and I hope to see you all very soon!!!
